additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

No change

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

No

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector’s operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Yes

which option

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

which option
Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
problem definition
No

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

problem definition
No

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

which option
No Change

access to tobacco products
problem definition
Yes

which option
Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

questions smokeless
problem definition
No

comments
No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option
Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
problem definition
No

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

which option
No Change

access to tobacco products
problem definition
Yes

which option
Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

No

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Yes

which option
Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Yes

which option
Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

additional comments

questions on reporting

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition

explanations

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

problem definition
Yes

which option
Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

questions smokeless
problem definition

comments
No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option
Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
problem definition

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

which option
No Change

access to tobacco products
problem definition
Yes

which option
Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

questions on reporting

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition

explanations

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

questions consumer
problem definition

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

which option
Extend the scope of the Directive

additional comments
All tobacco products are hazardous to health – there is no safe level of usage. Therefore we recommend that the scope of the Directive includes the regulation of any new smoked tobacco products (such as low emission or nicotine-free cigarettes), while the prohibition of any novel forms of oral tobacco, including snus, should be maintained. Herbal cigarettes are also harmful because it is the combustion and inhalation of smoke that causes most of the harm from smoking. Therefore, herbal cigarettes should be included in the scope Tobacco Products Directive and should also be subject to health warnings requirements. Finally, all forms of nicotine based products (that is, products containing nicotine but which are not tobacco products, such as electronic cigarettes, nicotine gel, drinks, and sweets) are often marketed as alternatives to cigarettes and in some cases as an aid to quitting smoking. Therefore, they should only be sold as quitting aids and comply with specific safety and quality requirements under the same regulatory framework as pharmaceutical products rather than under the scope of the Tobacco Products Directive.

questions smokeless
problem definition
Yes

which option
No change

additional comments
The ban on snus should definitely be maintained. This is high priority. Indeed, there is no legitimate reason to introduce a dangerous product onto the market, particularly as, from an internal market point of view, we have no idea how snus would be perceived or used in other countries. A small study conducted by the University of Nottingham by Professor Ann McNeil showed that, in the UK, people could not see the point of snus unless it was as a cessation aid (i.e. there is currently no demand). For internal market purposes, it really does not make sense to lift the ban. Furthermore, if the ban on snus were to be lifted, it could encourage dual use of cigarettes and smokeless tobacco and discourage total abstinence from tobacco, thus weakening any potential health gains. In this context, we stress that there are already available effective treatments for nicotine addiction, including medicinal or 'clean' nicotine (NRT), that do not carry the risks associated with the use of snus. These should be promoted first and foremost. It is clear that the public health interest can be served even more by encouraging a) greater use of these treatments and b) the development of more effective cessation aids, especially those that mimic more closely the nicotine 'hit' delivered by cigarettes. Regarding other forms of smokeless tobacco products, the SFP does not believe that they should be "marketed" in all Member States. We recognise that they are as addictive and dangerous as smoked tobacco. As stated in the Opinion of the Scientific Committee on Emerging and Newly Identified Health Risks (SCENIHR), many forms of smokeless tobacco increase the risk of mouth, esophageal, pancreatic and liver cancer, and other conditions including gum and heart disease. However, we also know that these products are mostly consumed in the UK and used by South Asian communities; introducing an EU-wide ban on these products now could lead to the creation of an unnecessary illegal market, pushing consumption underground. This is why we do not recommend an immediate ban on all types of smokeless tobacco products ; we do recommend that they should be regulated in the same way as tobacco products.

questions consumer
problem definition

explanations
The problem definition could be improved. We agree with the Commission that the current situation, whereby some Member States have made graphic warnings compulsory and others not, has led to a disparity in labelling throughout the EU. Consequently, this has an impact on the functioning of the internal market, on consumers' awareness and as a result, on their smoking behaviour. We also agree that packaging as an advertising tool is not covered by the current Directive. Finally, we welcome the acknowledgement that tobacco packaging and product features are increasingly used to attract consumers, to promote products and brand image. In this context, it would have been judicious to highlight the fact that, in the Eurobarometer survey released in 2010, the policy that received the most positive response is that of putting health warnings on all packages of tobacco products (on average, 75% of EU citizens are in favour of mandatory pictorial warnings, and over 54% support plain packaging measures).

Improve consumer information; Introduce generic or plain packaging

which improvement
Picture warnings to become mandatory; Tar, nicotine and carbon monoxide levels to be replaced with general information on harmful substances in tobacco products; Information on harmful substances in tobacco products that cannot be placed on the package would be placed inside the package; Health warnings to be put on water pipes

additional option
Crucial importance of Graphic health warnings: Evidence shows that text only warning messages are not as effective as graphic warnings. Pictures, especially fear inducing pictures, are proven to be effective in getting consumers more engaged with the warning message. Pictures are able to immediately provoke a reaction and prompt people to read the associated text message. The need for graphic health warnings on both sides of the pack: There is also evidence that pictures on both sides of the packaging have a greater impact. The need for LARGE pictorial health warnings (80%): Evidence clearly shows that increasing the size of warning messages (text only and combined text and picture) increases the effectiveness of the warning amongst both young and adult smokers / non smokers. Research carried out in Canada by Createc on behalf of Health Canada in 2007 showed that young and adult smokers/non smokers are sensitive to the size of health warning messages. Results showed that warning messages that cover 100% of the pack are significantly more effective across all measured effectiveness indicators compared with warning messages that cover only 50% of the pack. The importance of Rotation: Warning texts and pictures should be displayed on a rotating basis, so that each message is given equal display and can reach its target audience. The proved effectiveness of shocking health warnings & targeted messages: as specified in the Sambrook Research International report, fear inducing warnings (using strong “shocking” images related to health risks such as rotten teeth or throat cancer) and strong emotion inducing warnings (especially involving children and unborn babies) are the most effective way to educate consumers on the health risks of tobacco use and to achieve changes in attitudes and behaviour. These warnings’ effectiveness is enhanced if they are used in conjunction with a quit line. Generic or plain packaging: We strongly recommend the introduction of standardised/plain packaging. This should include not only the removal of all branding from the packaging but the size and shape of the packaging should also be standardised. Not only would this prevent the promotion of smoking through branding as occurs presently but it would reinforce the health warning messages. Tobacco packaging provides a direct link between consumers and manufacturers and is the main marketing channel, particularly in jurisdictions with tobacco advertising bans. Branding gives the misleading impression some cigarettes are safer than others. The tobacco industry claims that plain packaging would contravene intellectual property law. However, legal analysis concludes that this is incorrect and there are no international legal impediments to the implementation of generic packaging. Replace TNCO quantitative labelling with qualitative information on contents, emissions and quit-lines: The inclusion of machine-based tar, nicotine and carbon monoxide yields on cigarette packs promotes the mistaken belief that some cigarette brands are less harmful than others. We support the proposal to replace numerical measurements with descriptive information on the hazardous effects of tobacco constituents and emissions. We stress the importance of putting quit line numbers on the package. As underlined in the Sambrook research (p46), providing a telephone number on the pack is more effective than telling smokers to seek advice from a doctor or pharmacist. P46 Health warnings on water pipes: There is a growing body of evidence to show that water pipes are at least as hazardous, if not more so, than other forms of tobacco use. Warnings should also be included on the packaging of tobacco used in water pipes.

additional comments
Under Article 5.3 of the TPD 2001, Member States have the option to adopt pictorial warnings. This situation emphasised the right of Member States to go further than the Directive to protect public health as set out in Article 30 of the Treaty of the Union (now article 36). Ten years after the entering into force of the TPD, four countries (the UK, Belgium, Romania and Malta) have adopted the option. More countries such as Spain and France are planning to adopt mandatory pictorial warnings. Such measures are in compliance with the current TPD and are welcomed by the tobacco control community. However, their adoption by some Member States necessarily creates growing discrepancies between Member States. As stated above, there is clear evidence that pictorial warnings are much more powerful than written health warnings. Extending the information and protection to all EU Member States would be in harmony with Article 168 of the TFEU and consistent with the objectives of the internal market stated in Article 114.3 of the TFEU and reiterated in Recital 19 of the Directive. A revision of the TPD should, therefore, aim at making pictorial health warnings of tobacco products subject to common rules. Note: Legislation on labelling, advertising and product regulation put forward by the Commission in the field of tobacco control, has been based on the internal market legislation (Articles 26 and 114 of the TFEU). Article 26 of the TFEU establishes the internal market. Article 114 gives EU institutions the competence to regulate and set rules for the functioning of the internal market. More specifically, article 114.3 also states that when establishing rules for the functioning of the internal market in the context of health, safety, environmental protection and consumer protection, the Commission “will take as a base a high level of protection, taking account in particular of any new development based on scientific facts.” The European Court of Justice (the “ECJ”) made an extensive analysis of Article 95 EC (now Article 114) throughout the years. In Spain v. Council, the Court observed that “recourse to Article 100a (now Article 114) as a legal basis is possible if the aim is to prevent the emergence of future obstacles to trade resulting from multifarious development of national laws.” The TPD was adopted on the basis of Article 114 TFEU (ex Article 95). As a result, Recital 19 of the TPD states that “[t]he presentation of warning labels and yields has continued to remain variable in the different Member States. As a consequence, consumers in one Member State may be better informed as to the risks of tobacco products than in another. Such differences are unacceptable and are liable to constitute a barrier to trade and to impede the operation of the internal market in tobacco products, and should therefore be eliminated.”

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format; Introduce fees and sanctions

additional comments
The current situation which allows different formats and reporting mechanisms is unsatisfactory, making it difficult for authorities to compare and analyse the data. All tobacco manufacturers and importers should be subject to the same reporting requirements. The SFP believes that tobacco products, which are highly harmful, should be subject to an effective reporting system that allows the gathering and analysis of relevant data, including comparison as appropriate, in order to ensure high levels of consumer safety and information. The format already exists (based on the voluntary reporting format developed by the Commission in May 2007) and it would therefore be very easy to adopt this measure and to implement it. We welcome the introduction of yearly registration fees in order to finance the data collection on ingredients by the national authorities and their analysis work on ingredients. The payment of penalties in case of non-compliance with the requirements of delivery of data on tobacco product ingredients also seems adequate and would contribute to fund the tests conducted on these products. It is crucial that the appropriate toxicological and addictiveness tests are properly conducted. Such tests would allow policy-makers to make more informed decisions in this field, as there would be more scientific evidence. It would enhance the scientific knowledge of the dangers of tobacco products and would contribute to a high protection of health, as stated in Article 95.3 TFEU. Besides, such measures would also have an indirect impact on illicit trade, since only registered products would be allowed on the market.

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common list of tobacco ingredients

which one
Establish a positive common list of tobacco ingredients

additional comments
We support the adoption of a positive common list of tobacco ingredients. We believe that tobacco products are highly toxic and addictive, and that their content should therefore be closely regulated, in order to achieve high standards of health protection, as stated under article 114.3. There is a need for such a list at EU level since at the moment, consumers in the internal market are not subject to the same level of protection. Some citizens may be using substances that are banned in other Member States. Apart from creating unequal health protection across the EU, this may constitute an obstacle to free movement of goods within the internal market: some countries can refuse access to their markets of cigarettes from Member States that do not comply with the importing Member State's national requirements. Regulation of Flavours and Ingredients: Flavourings are an increasingly important part of tobacco industry marketing, particularly to young people. Flavourings enhance attractiveness, encourage youth initiation, and discourage cessation. The prohibition of ingredients that may be used to increase attractiveness, such as sugars and sweeteners, flavouring substances, and spices and herbs, in cigarettes and cigarette-like tobacco products should be introduced. The prohibition of ingredients that may create the impression of a health benefit (e.g. vitamins), ingredients associated with energy and vitality (e.g. caffeine), and ingredients with colouring properties (e.g. pink cigarette paper) should also be banned. Tobacco manufacturers and importers should report sales volume information by brand. This information is essential to help governments ensure that product regulation is effective. The above measures should be compliant with the Guidelines on Art. 9/10, adopted unanimously at the Fourth Conference of the Parties in Uruguay on the 20th November 2010.

which one2
Cross-border retail sales of tobacco to be banned over the Internet; Vending machines to be banned; Promotion and displays in retail stores to be banned

additional option
We urge the Commission to call for a ban on the promotion of tobacco products at point of sale and a ban on vending machines as described in the Art 13 Guidelines of the FCTC.

additional comments
Internet. The principle of preventing cross-border promotion of tobacco products in order to protect public health was enshrined in the Tobacco Advertising directive (2001/0119). It is logical, therefore, to extend that principle to the sale of tobacco products between member states via the Internet. We support the prohibition of tobacco sales via the Internet. Vending machines. The majority of member states (22 out of 27) already prohibit the sale of tobacco products from vending machines in order to deter young people accessing cigarettes from this source. We support this measure. Point of Sale. Evidence shows that a coordinated cross border marketing strategy on the part of the tobacco companies is reflected at point of sale (i.e. point of sale marketing is similar in most EU countries (i.e.: a brand is advertised at point of sale in the same way in Germany and Belgium). There is a growing body of evidence to show that putting tobacco products out of sight in retail outlets can reduce youth smoking. To date, this measure has been adopted by Ireland and Finland (as well as Iceland and Norway). This measure is also official government policy in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland and a decision is awaited in England. We strongly support an EU-wide adoption of a ban on the display of tobacco products at the point of sale.

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

questions smokeless
problem definition
No

comments
No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option
Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
problem definition
No

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

which option
No Change

access to tobacco products
problem definition
Yes

which option
Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

I fully disagree with a display or internet sale ban, as this would totally discriminate 'cultural smoking' like cigars etc. if sale and distribution would be practically outlawed. Have a little trust in freedom of choice!

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

which option
Extend the scope of the Directive

additional comments
We recommend the following: + Extend the scope of the Directive to include all smoked products including herbal cigarettes. + Do NOT extend the Directive to include electronic nicotine delivery systems (ENDS or E-cigarettes). It is the combustion process and inhalation of smoke that causes most of the harm from smoking. Therefore it is appropriate that herbal cigarettes, which are used in a similar way to nicotine cigarettes, are regulated in the same way as smoked tobacco products, and should be included in the scope of the Directive. Therefore we recommend that the scope of the Directive includes the regulation of any new smoked tobacco products (such as low emission or nicotine-free cigarettes). Novel nicotine based products (that is, products containing nicotine but not tobacco products) have the potential to offer a less hazardous alternative to cigarettes. Currently these include e-cigarettes and nicotine gel. However, as such products are generally marketed as alternatives to cigarettes and in some cases as an aid to quitting smoking, it is appropriate for them to be brought under the same regulatory framework as pharmaceutical products rather than under the scope of the tobacco products directive. The question of how nicotine containing products should be controlled is currently under consideration by the UK's Medicines and Healthcare Regulatory Authority (MHRA) following a recent public consultation on whether to extend its remit on the regulation of nicotine replacement therapies to other nicotine containing products. The outcome of this consultation may assist the Commission in developing its policy on these products.

questions smokeless
problem definition
Yes

which option
No change

additional comments
With regard to smokeless products that are not currently illegal, particularly those used by ethnic minority populations, we recommend that they are more tightly regulated but we do not support a total ban on such products. Whilst recognising that such products are harmful, the introduction of an EU-wide ban could create an illegal market that would be more difficult to control than the current situation. Furthermore a ban would make it more difficult to engage with users to offer help in quitting.

questions consumer
problem definition
Yes

which option
Improve consumer information; Introduce generic or plain packaging

which improvement
Picture warnings to become mandatory; Tar, nicotine and carbon monoxide levels to be replaced with general information on harmful substances in tobacco products; Information on harmful substances in tobacco products that cannot be placed on the package would be placed inside the package; Health warnings to be put on water pipes

additional option
The minimum size of health warnings should be increased to 80% of the front and back surfaces of all tobacco packaging.

additional comments
Picture Warnings We strongly recommend that picture warnings should be mandatory and that they should occupy a minimum of 80% of the front and back surfaces of all tobacco packaging (i.e. not just cigarettes). The warnings should be placed on the upper portion of the packs for maximum visibility. The current situation with some Member States adopting picture warnings whilst others have not done so has created a discrepancy and uneven health protection across the EU. From an internal market perspective, the differences in rules are contrary to the operation of the single market and may constitute a barrier to trade. These obstacles should therefore be removed and pictorial health warnings should be mandatory to ensure optimum health protection for all EU citizens. There is good evidence to show that health warnings are effective in conveying the dangers of smoking and helping smokers to quit. They also help deter young people from starting to smoke. Picture warnings are more effective than written warnings.2 All warnings should be displayed in rotation so that each message is given equal display to reach its target audience. There is widespread consumer support for pictorial health warnings. A Eurobarometer survey conducted in October 2009 showed that 78% of respondents supported health warnings. Information on tar, nicotine & carbon monoxide (TNCO) Currently the Directive requires the inclusion of machine-based tar, nicotine and carbon monoxide yields on cigarette packs. This promotes the mistaken beliefs that some cigarette brands are less harmful than others and that nicotine causes disease. The EU should not only remove this requirement from the Directive but should prohibit ISO or any other emissions numbers on the pack. We support the proposal to replace numerical measurements with descriptive information on the hazardous effects of tobacco constituents and emissions. The addition of a quitline telephone service should be included on the packaging. Additional information on harmful substances in tobacco products We support the proposal to include additional information on the health effects of tobacco consumption on inserts inside the packaging. This should include advice on quitting smoking. Health warnings on water pipes There is a growing body of evidence to show that water pipes are at least as hazardous, if not more so, than other forms of tobacco use. However, there is a common perception that tobacco smoke is ‘cleansed’ by the water and therefore not as dangerous and some users believe flavoured shisha is not in fact tobacco. It is important that these myths are countered by requiring the inclusion of a health warning on all water pipes. Warnings should also be included on the packaging of tobacco used in water pipes. Generic or plain packaging We strongly recommend the introduction of plain or generic packaging. This should include not only the removal of all branding from the packaging but the size and shape of the packaging should also be standardised. Not only would this prevent the promotion of smoking through branding as occurs presently but it would reinforce the health warning messages. The Australian federal government has recently announced its intention to introduce plain packaging in 2012, setting a standard that the EU should follow. Tobacco packaging provides a direct link between consumers and manufacturers and is the main marketing channel, particularly in jurisdictions with tobacco advertising bans. Branding gives the misleading impression some cigarettes are safer than others. The tobacco industry claims that plain packaging would contravene intellectual property law. However, legal analysis for Action on Smoking and Health concludes that this is incorrect and there are no legal impediments to the implementation of generic packaging in the EU.

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format; Introduce fees and sanctions

additional comments
The current situation which allows different formats and reporting mechanisms is unsatisfactory, making it difficult for authorities to compare and analyse the data. Tobacco companies should be required to use a standardised reporting format. Additionally the companies should be required to pay a yearly registration fee to cover the costs of administering this data collection. The above measures should be compliant with Articles 9 & 10 of the Framework Convention on Tobacco Control (FCTC).

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common list of tobacco ingredients

which one
Establish a positive common list of tobacco ingredients

additional option
We support the adoption of a positive common list of tobacco ingredients. Tobacco products are highly toxic and addictive; their contents should therefore be regulated in order to achieve high standards of health protection. A positive common list would ensure that only registered products, with ingredients, flavourings and additives that appear on the positive list would be permitted on the EU market. Currently, EU citizens are not subject to the same level .of health protection and a common list of permitted ingredients would go some way towards addressing this anomaly. The tobacco industry uses a range of additives to alter the composition of tobacco products. These can make the product more palatable to children or increase the addictiveness of the product. Therefore any flavourings that may be used to enhance the addictiveness or attractiveness of tobacco products should be banned. The revised Product Directive should be fully compliant with the guidelines on Articles 9 & 10 adopted at the fourth Conference of the Parties of the FCTC on 20th November 2010.

access to tobacco products
problem definition
Yes

which option
Ban

which one2
Cross-border retail sales of tobacco to be banned over the Internet; Vending machines to be banned; Promotion and displays in retail stores to be banned

additional option
The EU Directive should follow the lead set by Finland which, as part of its recently passed Tobacco Act, has set limits on the amount of tobacco that can be imported into Finland where the labelling differs from that of tobacco products sold in Finland. We recommend that similar limits should be set at EU level, that is, that for each Member State the amount of tobacco that may be imported for personal use which does not conform to domestic labelling requirements, should be limited to a maximum of 200 cigarettes, 50 cigars, 100 cigarillos and 250 grams of pipe or cigarette tobacco.

additional comments
Internet. The principle of preventing cross-border promotion of tobacco products in order to protect public health was enshrined in the Tobacco Advertising directive (2001/0119). It is logical, therefore, to extend that principle to the sale of tobacco products between member states via the Internet. We support the prohibition of tobacco sales via the Internet. Vending machines. The majority of member states (22 out of 27) already prohibit the sale of tobacco products from vending machines in order to deter young people accessing cigarettes from this source. We support this measure. Point of Sale. We support an EU-wide adoption of a ban on the display of tobacco products at the point of sale. Across the EU, most forms of tobacco advertising are now prohibited but the tobacco industry continues to market its products by the use of attractive packaging. Research shows that point of sale displays of tobacco have a direct impact on young people's intention to smoke. Furthermore, there is a growing body of evidence to show that putting tobacco products out of sight in retail outlets can reduce youth smoking. To date, this measure has been adopted by Ireland and Finland (as well as Iceland and Norway) and is going through the parliamentary process in the UK. .

questions smokeless
problem definition
No

comments
No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option
Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
problem definition
No

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

which option
No Change

access to tobacco products
problem definition
Yes

which option
Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

problem definition
Yes

which option
Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

Rezultatem zlikwidowania dodatków mogłaby być likwidacja upraw tytoniu Burley w Polsce, a co z tym związane utrata miejsc pracy 40% polskich plantatorów. Potencjalnie istniałoby także ryzyko, że pełnoletni palacze będą kupować papierosy pochodzące z kontrabandy, bądź podrabiane, które byłyby, takie jak dotychczas.

Dlaczego legalny produkt, z ktorego panstwo ma duze przychody miałby byc skrywany pod ladą? Kto chce palic ten bedzie palił i taki zapis nic nie zmieni. Papierosy byłyby dostępne „spod lady", a więc niewidoczne dla pełnoletniego konsumenta, co znacznie utrudniłoby wybór oraz pozyskanie informacji o dostępności odpowiedniej marki w punkcie sprzedaży. Zakaz ekspozycji mógłby także doprowadzić do spadku sprzedaży legalnych wyrobów tytoniowych. Dodatkowa uwaga do plain packaging: ich wprowadzenie mogłoby ułatwić podrabianie legalnych wyrobów tytoniowych, spowodować wzrost szarej strefy, a także ograniczyć warunki konkurowania na rynku. Podsumowujac wprowadzenie dodatkowych obostrzen dotyczacych papierosów wpłynie nagatywnie na dorosłychy palaczy, pogorszy finanse panstwa i zwiekszy udzial szarej strefy.

explanations

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

According to your consultation document, extending the scope of the directive automatically means banning all noval forms of oral tobacco. While i do think that the TPD should review the scope of the directive, I do not agree that noval tobacco should be banned unless there is proper scientific evidence to support that decision.

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

additional comments

Non concordo che “l’evidenza mostra che, se adeguatamente dimensionate e ben collocate, le avvertenze illustrate costituiscono una misura efficace per informare il pubblico in merito ai pericoli del fumo”e che “maggiore è la dimensione dell’avvertenza illustrata, maggiore ne è l’efficacia”. Talvolta le immagini illustrate introdotte in alcuni paesi per sostituire le avvertenze sanitarie scritte, più che informare il consumatore sembrano essere state introdotte per suscitare stupore e shock. Non sembra questa la strada migliore per proteggere la salute dei consumatori, che già sono molto consapevoli dei pericoli e della dannosità delle sigarette. Sono anche totalmente contrario all’introduzione del cosiddetto “pacchetto generico”, che rischia di favorire il business delle organizzazioni criminali e di danneggiare le aziende serie che tradizionalmente forniscono solo società manifatturiere di altrettanta ed operanti solo sul mercato legale, che si vedrebbero gravemente danneggiate per la distruzione del valore dei marchi. Tra l’altro il “plain packaging” spingerebbe ad una concorrenza basata sul prezzo e non sulla qualità, così danneggiando il tabacco europeo che della qualità superiore ha l’unica arma possibile,ora che i sostegni diretti ai produttori, per compensarne i costi più alti, sono stati smantellati.

Sono in totale disaccordo con l'ipotesi di vietare l'impiego di ingredienti nella produzione di sigarette. Questa ipotesi finirebbe per avere serie conseguenze per la produzione di "Burley", in Italia e in tutta Europa. Questa qualità di tabacco, utilizzata principalmente per il cosiddetto "American Blend", rispetto ad altre varietà di tabacco, necessita di un certo numero di ingredienti in fase di lavorazione. D'altra parte, come chiarito anche nell' OMS e dallo SHENIHR non esiste alcuna prova scientifica del fatto che le sigarette realizzate senza ingredienti (come quelle che utilizzano la varietà di tabacco "Virginia") siano meno dannose di quelle che necessitano di ingredienti. Questa, pertanto, appare una chiara discriminazione, che avrebbe il solo effetto di pregiudicare significativamente gli oltre 60.000 addetti alla coltivazione di tabacco in Italia e circa 400.000 in tutta Europa

Le enunciazioni del documento di consultazione, in realtà non definiscono il problema, ma fotografano unicamente il quadro normativo di riferimento, seppure in modo parziale. Sono infatti elencati nel documento solo i paesi in cui esistono misure estreme per regolamentare l'accesso ai prodotti: paesi, ad esempio, in cui i distributori automatici sono vietati o dove è vietata l'esposizione dei prodotti nei punti vendita. Ritengo che non si debba arrivare tanto lontano per ottenere gli obbiettivi prefissati di salvaguardia dei minori. Il sistema Italiano di monopolio e di controlli sull'accesso, se applicato con determinazione e con le giuste risorse a disposizione degli organismi di controllo, costituisce un' ottima soluzione per limitare l'accesso dei minori al tabacco.

There is no specific need to include ENDS. How bizarre the EU legislation is, is demonstrated the ban of snus. The extension of the ban to other smokeless tobacco would just increase this madness. I do not think that there are still herbal cigarettes in the market. Herbal cigarettes circumvented the excise duty for a short time in some markets. After the EU clarification on taxation these products disappeared. Therefore, the problem definition addresses issues which are irrelevant, and in the case of oral tobacco, they would even increase the current counterproductive approach of the EU.

which option
No change

recommend option
Allow oral tobacco (snus) as it is much healthier as any cigarette. Check the literature from the US.

additional comments
Be aware of the fact that excise duty from tobacco are important part of the governments' revenues. Harmful experiments will force more and more consumers from the legal market in the hands of criminals.

questions smokeless
problem definition

comments
It is simply unbelievable to read all this can/may and the conclusion. There is absolutely no evidence that snus increases the risk of cancer. The ban of snus is a sad example how bad the situation is. The EU, probably as the only country/region in the world simply bans a product which is significantly less harmful as cigarettes without having any evidence that it is harmfull at all.

which option
Lifting the ban on snus

additional option
See above and remove that current bizarre ban.

questions consumer
problem definition
No

explanations
I am affraid that the problem definition has been written by non-smokers. It is very apparent that it does not reflect the reality. If the consultation document states that the current status has "an impact on the functioning of the internal market" then the Commission should give any evidence. As there is absolutely no evidence for that the Commission should refrain from developing any legislation based on bad judgement.

which option
No change

questions on reporting
problem definition
No

explanations
I agree partially. The entire procedure is waste of money. There are 27 member states and around 1 000 (cigarettes and other smoking products) tobacco products in most markets. The same data is collected 27-times. I doubt that these data collection is used for any meaningful purpose. If the governments are interested in certain substances, they should analyse the products. The Commission should refer to the results of such an extensive data collection and evaluate them. I am afraid that the entire scheme should be removed.

which option
No change

additional options
See above. Replace the useless data collection by product testing.

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations
There is no evidence that e.g. menthol "during the process of burning ... forms substances that are carcinogenic, mutagenic and/or toxic for reproduction". Snus does not burn at all and is banned. There is no need for any further experiments. The EU banned cigarettes of more than 10/1/10mg T/N/CO and destroyed export jobs. All cigarettes have to have large info on these levels. Now the Commission realised that this is possible misleading for the consumers. No, thanks, but no further experiments.

which option
No Change

access to tobacco products
problem definition
No

explanations
Sales of legal cigarettes via Internet are not measurable the volume is completely irrelevant. Basically, it is limited to Tesco's and other supermarkets where consumers can order grocery incl. cigarettes online. Very common is Internet sale of illicit products. However, banning legal websites and tolerating non-EU unlawful websites is not the most clever option. Display ban is a great idea, in particular for those involved in smuggling and counterfeiting.

which option
No change

additional option
The EU should encourage legal sales and fight illicit trade. Unfortunately, the practice is exactly the other way around.

additional comments
I would wish that there is more legislation controlling pharmaceutical companies and their sponsoring. My view is that commercial interests should not lead to unethical use of science.

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

Non concordo che "l'evidenza mostra che, se adeguatamente dimensionate e ben collocate, le avvertenze illustrate costituiscono una misura efficace per informare il pubblico in merito ai pericoli del fumo" e che "maggiore è la dimensione dell'avvertenza illustrata, maggiore ne è l'efficacia". Talvolta le immagini illustrate introdotte in alcuni paesi per sostituire le avvertenze sanitarie scritte, più che informare il consumatore sembrano essere state introdotte per suscitare stupore e shock. Non sembra questa la strada migliore per proteggere la salute dei consumatori, che già sono molto consapevoli dei pericoli e della dannosità delle sigarette. Sono anche totalmente contrari all'introduzione del cosiddetto "pacchetto generico", che rischia di favorire il business delle organizzazioni criminali e di danneggiare le aziende serie che tradizionalmente forniscono solo società manifatturiere di altrettanta serietà ed operanti solo sul mercato legale, che si vedrebbero gravemente danneggiate per la distruzione del valore dei marchi. Tra l'altro il "plain packaging" spingerebbe ad una concorrenza basata sul prezzo e non sulla qualità, così danneggiando il tabacco europeo che della qualità superiore ha l'unica arma possibile, ora che i sostegni diretti ai produttori, per compensarne i costi più alti, sono stati smantellati.

Sono in totale disaccordo con l'ipotesi di vietare l'impiego di ingredienti nella produzione di sigarette. Questa ipotesi finirebbe per avere serie conseguenze per le produzioni di "Burley", in Italia e in tutta Europa. Questa qualità di tabacco, utilizzata principalmente per il cosiddetto "American blend", rispetto ad altre varietà di tabacco, necessita di un certo numero di ingredienti in fase di lavorazione. D'altra parte, come chiarito anche dall'OMS e dallo SCENIHR non esiste alcuna prova scientifica del fatto che le sigarette realizzate senza ingredienti (come quelle che utilizzano la varietà di tabacco "Virginia") siano meno dannose di quelle che necessitano di ingredienti. Questa, pertanto, appare una chiara discriminazione, che avrebbe il solo effetto di pregiudicare significativamente gli oltre 60. 000 addetti alla coltivazione di tabacco in Italia e circa 400.000 in tutta Europa.

Le enunciazioni del documento di consultazione, in realtà non definiscono il problema, ma fotografano unicamente il quadro normativo di riferimento, seppure in modo parziale. Sono infatti elencati nel documento solo i paesi in cui esistono misure estreme per regolamentare l'accesso ai prodotti: paesi, ad esempio, in cui i distributori automatici sono vietati o dove è vietata l'esposizione dei prodotti nei punti vendita. Ritengo che non si debba arrivare tanto lontano per ottenere gli obiettivi prefissati di salvaguardia dei minori. Il sistema italiano di monopolio e di controlli sull'accesso, se applicato con determinazione e con le giuste risorse a disposizione degli organismi di controllo, costituisce un'ottima soluzione per limitare l'accesso dei minori al tabacco.

Non concordo che "l'evidenza mostra che, se adeguatamente dimensionate e ben collocate, le avvertenze illustrate costituiscono una misura efficace per informare il pubblico in merito ai pericoli del fumo" e che "maggiore è la dimensione dell'avvertenza illustrata, maggiore ne è l'efficacia". Talvolta le immagini illustrate introdotte in alcuni paesi per sostituire le avvertenze sanitarie scritte, più che informare il consumatore sembrano essere state introdotte per suscitare stupore e shock. Non sembra questa la strada migliore per proteggere la salute dei consumatori, che già sono molto consapevoli dei pericoli e della dannosità delle sigarette. Sono anche totalmente contrari all'introduzione del cosiddetto "pacchetto generico", che rischia di favorire il business delle organizzazioni criminali e di danneggiare le aziende serie che tradizionalmente forniscono solo società manifatturiere di altrettanta serietà ed operanti solo sul mercato legale, che si vedrebbero gravemente danneggiate per la distruzione del valore dei marchi. Tra l'altro il "plain packaging" spingerebbe ad una concorrenza basata sul prezzo e non sulla qualità, così danneggiando il tabacco europeo che della qualità superiore ha l'unica arma possibile, ora che i sostegni diretti ai produttori, per compensarne i costi più alti, sono stati smantellati.

Sono in totale disaccordo con l'ipotesi di vietare l'impiego di ingredienti nella produzione di sigarette. Questa ipotesi finirebbe per avere serie conseguenze per le produzioni di "Burley", in Italia e in tutta Europa. Questa qualità di tabacco, utilizzata principalmente per il cosiddetto "American blend", rispetto ad altre varietà di tabacco, necessita di un certo numero di ingredienti in fase di lavorazione. D'altra parte, come chiarito anche dall'OMS e dallo SCENIHR non esiste alcuna prova scientifica del fatto che le sigarette realizzate senza ingredienti (come quelle che utilizzano la varietà di tabacco "Virginia") siano meno dannose di quelle che necessitano di ingredienti. Questa, pertanto, appare una chiara discriminazione, che avrebbe il solo effetto di pregiudicare significativamente gli oltre 60. 000 addetti alla coltivazione di tabacco in Italia e circa 400.000 in tutta Europa

Le enunciazioni del documento di consultazione, in realtà non definiscono il problema, ma fotografano unicamente il quadro normativo di riferimento, seppure in modo parziale. Sono infatti elencati nel documento solo i paesi in cui esistono misure estreme per regolamentare l'accesso ai prodotti: paesi, ad esempio, in cui i distributori automatici sono vietati o dove è vietata l'esposizione dei prodotti nei punti vendita. Ritengo che non si debba arrivare tanto lontano per ottenere gli obiettivi prefissati di salvaguardia dei minori. Il sistema italiano di monopolio e di controlli sull'accesso, se applicato con determinazione e con le giuste risorse a disposizione degli organismi di controllo, costituisce un'ottima soluzione per limitare l'accesso dei minori al tabacco

Tobbaco products are made for adult people. Assuming that information about harmfulness of particular brand/product is properly disclosed on the packaging, it should be up to the consumers to decide whether they want to accept the consequences of smoking or not. Regarding the law regulations – I think that the local one should prevail.

I agree with the ban for the sale of tobacco products over the Internet but not for the display ban.

I do not agree with the display ban. Tobbaco products are made for adult people. They should be able to make their choice whether to smoke or not. Display ban is limiting this consumers' choice. Therefore, I believe these regulations are excessive. I can imagine the in the next stage we will try impose display ban on alcohol (can be both unhealthy and addictive) or "fast food" etc.

Non concordo che "l'evidenza mostra che, se adeguatamente dimensionate e ben collocate, le avvertenze illustrate costituiscono una misura efficace per informare il pubblico in merito ai pericoli del fumo" e che "maggiore è la dimensione dell'avvertenza illustrata, maggiore ne è l'efficacia". Talvolta le immagini illustrate introdotte in alcuni paesi per sostituire le avvertenze sanitarie scritte, più che informare il consumatore sembrano essere state introdotte per suscitare stupore e shock. Non sembra questa la strada migliore per proteggere la salute dei consumatori, che già sono molto consapevoli dei pericoli e della dannosità delle sigarette. Sono anche totalmente contrari all'introduzione del cosiddetto "pacchetto generico", che rischia di favorire il business delle organizzazioni criminali e di danneggiare le aziende serie che tradizionalmente forniscono solo società manifatturiere di altrettanta serietà ed operanti solo sul mercato legale, che si vedrebbero gravemente danneggiate per la distruzione del valore dei marchi. Tra l'altro il "plain packaging" spingerebbe ad una concorrenza basata sul prezzo e non sulla qualità, così danneggiando il tabacco europeo che della qualità superiore ha l'unica arma possibile, ora che i sostegni diretti ai produttori, per compensarne i costi più alti, sono stati smantellati.

Sono in totale disaccordo con l'ipotesi di vietare l'impiego di ingredienti nella produzione di sigarette. Questa ipotesi finirebbe per avere serie conseguenze per le produzioni di "Burley", in Italia e in tutta Europa. Questa qualità di tabacco, utilizzata principalmente per il cosiddetto "American blend", rispetto ad altre varietà di tabacco, necessita di un certo numero di ingredienti in fase di lavorazione. D'altra parte, come chiarito anche dall'OMS e dallo SCENIHR non esiste alcuna prova scientifica del fatto che le sigarette realizzate senza ingredienti (come quelle che utilizzano la varietà di tabacco "Virginia") siano meno dannose di quelle che necessitano di ingredienti. Questa, pertanto, appare una chiara discriminazione, che avrebbe il solo effetto di pregiudicare significativamente gli oltre 60. 000 addetti alla coltivazione di tabacco in Italia e circa 400.000 in tutta Europa

Le enunciazioni del documento di consultazione, in realtà non definiscono il problema, ma fotografano unicamente il quadro normativo di riferimento, seppure in modo parziale. Sono infatti elencati nel documento solo i paesi in cui esistono misure estreme per regolamentare l'accesso ai prodotti: paesi, ad esempio, in cui i distributori automatici sono vietati o dove è vietata l'esposizione dei prodotti nei punti vendita. Ritengo che non si debba arrivare tanto lontano per ottenere gli obiettivi prefissati di salvaguardia dei minori. Il sistema italiano di monopolio e di controlli sull'accesso, se applicato con determinazione e con le giuste risorse a disposizione degli organismi di controllo, costituisce un'ottima soluzione per limitare l'accesso dei minori al tabacco.

Ich halte das geplante Automatenverbot für falsch. Der Automat stellt im Hinblick auf das Abgabeverbot von Tabakwaren an Jugendliche den sichersten Abgabekanal dar. An jedem Kiosk an der Ecke sehe ich immer wieder Jugendliche, die dort problemlos Zigaretten kaufen, ohne nach ihrem Alter gefragt zu werden.

Ich denke, dass ein Warnhinweis wirksamer ist, wenn er größer ist. Ausserdem besteht bereits ein Bewusstsein für die Risiken des Rauchens, ein Bildwarnhinweis ist überflüssig. Einheitspackungen greifen in das freie Markenrecht ein. Einheitspackungen führen zu einer Preisspirale, dadurch werden Groß- und Einzelhändler und damit mein Arbeitsplatz gefährdet.

In 15 von 27 Mitgliedsstaaten sind Zigarettenautomaten erlaubt und das sollte so bleiben. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt unter strengen gesetzlichen Auflagen, z.B. Ausweisleser in Deutschland. Zigarettenautomaten fallen in den Zuständigkeitsbereich der einzelnen Staaten. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt lokal und weist keinen grenzüberschreitenden Bezug auf. Zigarettenautomaten haben meiner Meinung nach keinen Einfluss auf das Rauchverhalten Jugendlicher.

comments
No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option
Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
problem definition
No

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations

which option
No Change

access to tobacco products
problem definition
Yes

which option
Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

Es gibt unseres Erachtens keine wissenschaftlichen Beweise dafür, dass größere Warnhinweise oder Bilder besser dazu geeignet sind, potenzielle Raucher vom Rauchen abzuhalten bzw. Raucher davon zu überzeugen, mit dem Rauchen aufzuhören. Auch bei Plain Packaging gibt es bis dato keine Beweise dafür, dass sie eine Auswirkung der Gesundheit der Bevölkerung haben. Plain Packaging würde vielmehr Fälschungen und den illegalen Handel mit Tabakprodukten forcieren, weil die Fälschungssicherheit der Produkte nicht gewährleistet werden kann.

Die Rechtsdurchsetzung ist Angelegenheit der Mitgliedsstaaten und nicht der EU. Auch wenn die EU dieses Prinzip einführt, würden die Beträge für Gebühren und Sanktionen zwischen den Mitgliedsstaaten unterschiedlich ausfallen. Dies deshalb, da es in die Kompetenz des jeweiligen Staates fällt. Eine Verbesserung des Funktionierens des Binnenmarktes ist somit auf diese Weise nicht ersichtlich.

Der Fokus bei der Evaluierung von Zusatzstoffen sollte ganz grundsätzlich darauf ausgerichtet sein, ob deren Einsatz die toxische Wirkung des Zigarettenrauches erhöht. Es sollte daher nicht von der Attraktivität der Stoffe ausgegangen werden, da diese nahezu ausschließlich auf subjektiven Kriterien fußen.

Non concordo che "l'evidenza mostra che, se adeguatamente dimensionate e ben collocate, le avvertenze illustrate costituiscono una misura efficace per informare il pubblico in merito ai pericoli del fumo" e che "maggiore è la dimensione dell'avvertenza illustrata, maggiore ne è l'efficacia". Talvolta le immagini illustrate introdotte in alcuni paesi per sostituire le avvertenze sanitarie scritte, più che informare il consumatore sembrano essere state introdotte per suscitare stupore e shock. Non sembra questa la strada migliore per proteggere la salute dei consumatori, che già sono molto consapevoli dei pericoli e della dannosità delle sigarette. Sono anche totalmente contrari all'introduzione del cosiddetto "pacchetto generico", che rischia di favorire il business delle organizzazioni criminali e di danneggiare le aziende serie che tradizionalmente forniscono solo società manifatturiere di altrettanta serietà ed operanti solo sul mercato legale, che si vedrebbero gravemente danneggiate per la distruzione del valore dei marchi. Tra l'altro il "plain packaging" spingerebbe ad una concorrenza basata sul prezzo e non sulla qualità, così danneggiando il tabacco europeo che della qualità superiore ha l'unica arma possibile, ora che i sostegni diretti ai produttori, per compensarne i costi più alti, sono stati smantellati.

Sono in totale disaccordo con l'ipotesi di vietare l'impiego di ingredienti nella produzione di sigarette. Questa ipotesi finirebbe per avere serie conseguenze per le produzioni di "Burley", in Italia e in tutta Europa. Questa qualità di tabacco, utilizzata principalmente per il cosiddetto "American blend", rispetto ad altre varietà di tabacco, necessita di un certo numero di ingredienti in fase di lavorazione. D'altra parte, come chiarito anche dall'OMS e dallo SCENIHR non esiste alcuna prova scientifica del fatto che le sigarette realizzate senza ingredienti (come quelle che utilizzano la varietà di tabacco "Virginia") siano meno dannose di quelle che necessitano di ingredienti. Questa, pertanto, appare una chiara discriminazione, che avrebbe il solo effetto di pregiudicare significativamente gli oltre 60. 000 addetti alla coltivazione di tabacco in Italia e circa 400.000 in tutta Europa.

Le enunciazioni del documento di consultazione, in realtà non definiscono il problema, ma fotografano unicamente il quadro normativo di riferimento, seppure in modo parziale. Sono infatti elencati nel documento solo i paesi in cui esistono misure estreme per regolamentare l'accesso ai prodotti: paesi, ad esempio, in cui i distributori automatici sono vietati o dove è vietata l’esposizione dei prodotti nei punti vendita. Ritengo che non si debba arrivare tanto lontano per ottenere gli obiettivi prefissati di salvaguardia dei minori. Il sistema italiano di monopolio e di controlli sull’accesso, se applicato con determinazione e con le giuste risorse a disposizione degli organismi di controllo, costituisce un’ottima soluzione per limitare l’accesso dei minori al tabacco.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option
Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
problem definition
No

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations

which option

access to tobacco products
problem definition
Yes

which option
Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

Ich halte es nicht für nötig, weitere Maßnahmen zu ergreifen, um auf die Gefahren des Tabakkonsums aufmerksam zu machen. Die Bürger sind mittlerweile hinreichend darüber Informiert und weitere Maßnahmen schränken die Wahlfreiheit der Bürger nur noch weiter ein. Die wirtschaftlichen Probleme, die sich aus verschärften Maßnahmen ergeben, werden katastrophale Auswirkungen erzielen.

which option
No change

additional comments
Ich finde es mehr als abwertend, EU Bürgern eine Konsultation anzubieten, die nicht in ihrer Muttersprache durchgeführt wird. Gerade ältere Bürger haben in ihrer Schulzeit niemals Englisch gelernt und selbst mit normalem "Schulenglisch" kann man die hier angebotenen Fragen kaum sinnvoll beantworten bzw. seine Meinung äußern. Diese Konsultation wird wohl nur von einer winzigen Minderheit halbwegs korrekt ausgefüllt werden können, sodass das Ergebnis der Konsultation nicht stellvertretend für das gesamte EU Gebiet gelten kann.

Alle rauchlosen Produkte sollten gleich behandelt werden. Gerade diese Produkte können für werdende Nichtraucher eine sinnvolle Alternative bzw. Übergangslösung darstellen und die Gefährdung von Unbeteiligten ist ebenfalls ausgeschlossen.

which option
Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
problem definition
No

explanations
Meiner Meinung nach wird niemand durch die verschiedenen Designs der Verpackungen zum Rauchen verleitet. Egal um welchen Wirtschaftszweig es sich handelt, es muss eine Markenvielfalt vorhanden sein. Die Möglichkeit, dass alle Verpackungen gleich aussähen, würden niemanden dazu verleiten, mit dem Rauchen anzufangen noch seinen bereits vorhandenen Konsum einzuschränken.

which option
No change

additional comments
Eine Vereinheitlichung von Packungen würde den ohnehin schon großen Zigarettenschmuggel nur noch weiter antreiben. Die illegal produzierte und unversteuerte Ware würde sich nicht an Richtlinien halten und somit wären sämtliche Maßnahmen der Packungsvereinheitlichung bei dieser Ware wirkungslos. Außerdem würden durch die Vereinheitlichung weltweit geltende Markenrechte vernichtet, was ebenfalls wirtschaftliche, negative Konsequenzen mit sich bringen wird.

questions on reporting
problem definition
No

explanations
Da in der EU für einige Mitgliedsstaaten Sonderregelungen bestehen, würde ein einheitliches Meldesystem keinen Sinn ergeben und einen freien Wettbewerb verhindern.

which option
No change

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations
Gerade verschiedene Inhaltsstoffe stellen die Vielfalt der Produkte sicher. Eine Vereinheitlichung der Zusatzstoffe führt nur dazu, dass sämtliche Produkte ähnlich bis gleich schmecken, den Konsum würde so eine Maßnahme keinesfalls reduzieren.

which option
No Change

additional comments
Worin liegt die Definition von attraktiven Stoffen? Wie es bereits jetzt auch schon auf den Verpackungen steht, muss es sich bei additiv-freien Tabakprodukten nicht um risikoärmere handeln. Somit ist eine Vereinheitlichung der Inhaltsstoffe sinnlos. Auch dies würde wieder nur den Schmuggel stärken, da dieser weiterhin Produkte mit verschiedenen Inhaltsstoffen in Umlauf bringen würde.

access to tobacco products
problem definition
No

explanations
Der Bezug von Tabakwaren über das Internet ist problematisch, da hier keine ausreichende Kontrolle stattfindet. Bei Zigarettenautomaten ist dies jedoch völlig anders, diese stellen die beste Möglichkeit dar, Minderjährigen den Zugang zu Tabakprodukten zu erschweren bzw. diesen gänzlich zu verhindern. Die technischen Maßnahmen, die dafür ergriffen wurden, sind sehr gut. Ein Präsentationsverbot würde die frei Wahl von EU Bürgern verhindern und einen Neueinstieg von Rauchern nicht verhindern.

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

explanations
It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of

toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

comments
No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option
Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
problem definition
No

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments

questions on reporting
problem definition
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
problem definition
No

explanations

which option
No Change

access to tobacco products
problem definition
Yes

which option
Controlled supply and access

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

which option

which supply and access
Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option
Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments
