Rauchlose Tabakerzeugnisse gefährden nicht die Gesundheit Dritter. Ein Verbot von Snus entmündigt die EU-Bürger.

Ich denke, dass ein Warnhinweis wirksamer ist, wenn er größer ist. Ausserdem besteht bereits ein Bewusstsein für die Risiken des Rauchens, ein Bildwarnhinweis ist überflüssig.

Einheitspackungen greifen in das freie Markenrecht ein. Einheitspackungen führen zu einer Preisspirale, dadurch werden Groß- und Einzelhändler und damit mein Arbeitsplatz gefährdet.

In 15 von 27 Mitgliedsstaaten sind Zigarettenautomaten erlaubt und das sollte so bleiben. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt unter strengen gesetzlichen Auflagen, z.B. Ausweisleser in Deutschland. Zigarettenautomaten fallen in den Zuständigkeitsbereich der einzelnen Staaten. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt lokal und weist keinen grenzüberschreitenden Bezug auf. Zigarettenautomaten haben meiner Meinung nach keinen Einfluss auf das Rauchverhalten

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

problem definition

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

No change

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

No

explanations

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

No Change

access to tobacco products

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

No change

questions on reporting*problem definition

Yes

regulation of ingredients*problem definition

No

explanations

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

which option

access to tobacco products*problem definition

Yes

Controlled supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other experiences – see Canada – important loss have been recorded for the tobacco retailers: structural reorganization of the shop, higher management costs and important reduction of the profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

The wording of Option 2 appears to prejudice the outcome, in that it states that 'novel forms of oral tobacco would be banned similarly to snus'.

Extend the scope of the Directive

The Directive needs changing, particularly in relation to product labelling, but the best way forward for smokeless would be a regulatory framework applying to all smokeless products, not a continuation of the snus ban and its extension to novel forms of oral tobacco. This would leave the most toxic forms of smokeless, currently legal, such as the chewing products used by South Asian populations in the UK, free to be marketed. This is clearly not proportionate. Some forms of novel oral tobacco products (e.g. Ariva, Stonewall) are very low in toxins and more like pharmaceutical nicotine products than conventional tobacco products. Their banning would not be helpful from a public health perspective.

comments

The current wording fails to properly acknowledge the wide range of risks associated with different smokeless tobacco products. To say that 'all smokeless tobacco products are addictive and can cause cancer' is too broad-brush and confuses rather than helps. Cancer risks from oral tobacco of the form used in Sweden are very low indeed (no detectable increase in risk or oral cancer), and it is also doubtful whether there is an increased risk of CVD from snus. Oral tobacco products of the kind used by South Asian populations are much more toxic and have been shown to confer major cancer risk. The available options to choose from are too limited, in that option 2, to lift the ban on snus, envisages an unregulated market free-for-all ('all types of smokeless tobacco products would be freely marketed in the EU')

which option

Lifting the ban on snus

What is needed is a regulatory framework applied to all smokeless products and which takes appropriate account of the hazards each poses, as outlined in the paper by Bates C, Fagerstrom K, Jarvis MJ, Kunze M, McNeill A, Ramstrom L. European Union policy on smokeless tobacco: a statement in favour of evidence based regulation for public health. Tobacco Control. 2003 Dec;12(4):360-7.

questions consumer

Yes

Improve consumer information; Introduce generic or plain packaging

which improvement

Picture warnings to become mandatory; Tar, nicotine and carbon monoxide levels to be replaced with general information on harmful substances in tobacco products; Health warnings to be put on water pipes

I believe these to be important changes, which by themselves make it vital to introduce a revised Directive. Requiring the printing of tar, nicotine and carbon monoxide yields on packs is an obvious anomaly that requires correction. Introduction of plain packaging would be an important advance in consumer protection.

Yes

Establish a common compulsory reporting format; Introduce fees and sanctions

No

I know of no data that would support the assertion in 5.1 that 'during the process of burning [the] majority of additives form substances that are carcinogenic, mutagenic and/or toxic for reproduction'.

Introducing the basic criteria on the EU level without a common list

There should be a general presumption against the use of additives, since they are there usually to make the product more attractive to the consumer. We do not need or want highly toxic products to be made more attractive to consumers. Tobacco manufacturers should be required to make a case that any additive they wish to use would confer a public health benefit.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

No

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Ich denke, dass ein Warnhinweis wirksamer ist, wenn er größer ist. Ausserdem besteht bereits ein Bewusstsein für die Risiken des Rauchens, ein Bildwarnhinweis ist überflüssig.

In 15 von 27 Mitgliedsstaaten sind Zigarettenautomaten erlaubt und das sollte so bleiben. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt unter strengen gesetzlichen Auflagen, z.B. Ausweisleser in Deutschland. Zigarettenautomaten fallen in den Zuständigkeitsbereich der einzelnen Staaten. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt lokal und weist keinen grenzüberschreitenden Bezug auf. Zigarettenautomaten haben meiner Meinung nach keinen Einfluss auf das Rauchverhalten Jugendlicher.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

No change

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Yes

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

explanations

which option

No Change

problem definition

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

comments

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

No change

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

No

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

questions consumer*problem definition

explanations

because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Yes

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

explanations

No Change

Yes

Controlled supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

explanations

Yes

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

in my opinion the proposed measures limit the freedom of choice for consumers. basically we're still living in a free world and this should be kept up.... otherwise the EU will develop into a restrictive environment where governments decide on people's choices...which always is limiting individual choice...where is the end point of this....

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Yes

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

questions smokeless

comments

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

questions on reporting

Yes

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

questions on reporting

Yes

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Yes

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Der Geltungsbereich der Richtlinie sollte durchaus die angegebenen Produkte beinhalten. Ohne zuvorige wissenschaftliche Überprüfung der Produkte in Hinsicht auf ihre Schädlichkeit für den menschlichen Körper sollte jedoch kein Verbot ausgesprochen werden.

questions smokeless*problem definition

No

Es gibt unseres Erachtens keine wissenschaftlichen Beweise dafür, dass größere Warnhinweise oder Bilder besser dazu geeignet sind, potenzielle Raucher vom Rauchen abzuhalten bzw. Raucher davon zu überzeugen, mit dem Rauchen aufzuhören. Auch bei Plain Packaging gibt es bis dato keine Beweise dafür, dass sie eine Auswirkung der Gesundheit der Bevölkerung haben. Plain Packaging würde vielmehr Fälschungen und den illegalen Handel mit Tabakprodukten forcieren, weil die Fälschungssicherheit der Produkte nicht gewährleistet werden kann.

Zur besseren Kennzeichnung der Inhaltsstoffe könnte man z.B. Zahlen verwenden, die mit Hilfe eines anderen Messverfahrens (zB Health-Canada-Messverfahren) ermittelt wurden. Dadurch würden die Verbraucher präzisere Informationen über die Messwerte bekommen.

Die Rechtsdurchsetzung ist Angelegenheit der Mitgliedsstaaten und nicht der EU. Auch wenn die EU dieses Prinzip einführt, würden die Beträge für Gebühren und Sanktionen zwischen den Mitgliedsstaaten unterschiedlich ausfallen. Dies deshalb, da es in die Kompetenz des jeweiligen Staates fällt. Eine Verbesserung des Funktionierens des Binnenmarktes ist somit auf diese Weise nicht ersichtlich.

Der Fokus bei der Evaluierung von Zusatzstoffen sollte ganz grundsätzlich darauf ausgerichtet sein, ob deren Einsatz die toxische Wirkung des Zigarettenrauches erhöht. Es sollte daher nicht von der Attraktivität der Stoffe ausgegangen werden, da diese nahezu ausschließlich auf subjektiven Kriterien fußen.

explanations

Die hier dargestellte Problemstellung zielt nicht auf gesundheitspolitische Probleme im Zusammenhang mit Tabakkonsum und die Verfügbarkeit der Produkte ab. Weiters werden keinerlei Beweise für die Annahme angeboten, dass derartige Verbote den Binnenmarkt stärken oder aber zu einer Reduktion des Tabakkonsums führen würden.

There is no evidence of the correlation between display ban and consumption bent. In other

La definizione del problema è scorretta, vaga e poco chiara. Infatti, la consultazione esordisce affermando che il mercato del tabacco ha subito un processo di diversificazione dei prodotti, ma prosegue elencando una lista di beni diversi dal tabacco come le sigarette elettroniche e le bevande alla nicotina. Dall'incapacità di identificare cosa rientra nella categoria dei prodotti del tabacco si evince la scarsa conoscenza del settore stesso. Ricordiamo che i prodotti contenenti nicotina, diversi dal tabacco, non sono assimilabili con quest'ultimo per differenze sostanziali di contenuti, modalità di produzione, uso e consumazione. Riteniamo, quindi, che tali prodotti dovrebbero essere autonomamente regolati. La mancata comprensione della materia è ulteriormente dimostrata dall'assenza di una base scientifica che avvalori le tesi espresse. Inoltre, non figura nella consultazione alcuna considerazione rispetto alla competenza dell'UE per la regolamentazione di questi prodotti, nonché delle ricadute che tale regolamentazione avrebbe sul mercato interno.

Non si può concordare con la definizione fornita dalla Commissione in quanto non sussiste alcuna prova scientifica che giustifichi il divieto di commercializzazione dello snus, né l'ampliamento di tale divieto ad altri di prodotti del tabacco che non si fumano. Questi particolari prodotti del tabacco non possono considerarsi come un'unica categoria ai fini della valutazione dei rischi connessi all'utilizzo e dell'elaborazione di politiche pubbliche.

which option

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

Innanzitutto il pacchetto non costituisce uno strumento di advertising, bensì un elemento distintivo che permette la differenziazione tra i produttori, fornendo al consumatore le caratteristiche particolari del prodotto acquistato. Una definizione del problema così ristretta non consente di identificare le politiche concretamente efficaci in tema d'informazione del consumatore, considerando che il decisore pubblico avrebbe a sua disposizione diversi strumenti di comunicazione e di sensibilizzazione: televisioni, giornali, riviste, internet etc. Inoltre, la nozione di attrattività non può essere elevata a criterio per definire le politiche pubbliche. Essendo un parametro soggettivo, incerto ed arbitrario, l'attrattività non può per definizione rientrare tra i criteri che definiscono una politica di regolamentazione razionale. Ad ogni modo non esiste alcuna prova scientifica che dimostri il rapporto tra la grandezza delle avvertenze e il raggiungimento degli obiettivi di politica sanitaria. Allo stesso modo si esprime la propria opposizione all'obbligatorietà dei pictorial warning. L'efficacia delle immagini per le avvertenze sanitarie è controversa: in Belgio, in cui i pictorial warning sono stati inseriti nel 2006, secondo i dati contenuti nell'Eurobarometro sul tabacco del 2010, è stata evidenziata una crescita del tasso dei fumatori. Per lo stesso ordine d'idee, si esprime la propria disapprovazione per il plain packaging, considerate, inoltre, le gravi lesioni al diritto di utilizzo del marchio e le limitazioni alla libera concorrenza che ne deriverebbero.

Concordiamo con la definizione nella parte in cui si afferma l'esistenza di divergenze nei meccanismi di reportistica attuati nei diversi Stati membri. Effettivamente sussiste la necessità di un'uniformazione maggiore di detti sistemi. Ciononostante, si nota che la definizione non contiene alcun riferimento alle Linee Guida adottate dalla Commissione il 31/05/2007 sull'attività di reporting degli ingredienti dei prodotti del tabacco. L'approccio della Commissione dovrebbe tendere verso un sistema integrato di quanto stabilito nelle suddette linee guida e del progetto EMTOC (Electronic Model Tobacco Control).

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

Ogni regolamentazione restrittiva sugli ingredienti dovrebbe essere basata su prove scientifiche circa gli effetti sulla salute degli ingredienti stessi. Si nota con preoccupazione che viene, spesso, citata l'attrattività dei prodotti senza una chiara definizione né dell'ambito, né del significato o del contesto. Non può essere accettato il concetto generico e soggettivo di "attrattività" come criterio di politica sanitaria. D'altronde, lo stesso comitato scientifico europeo (SCENIHR) ha affermato che non esiste alcuna prova empirica che gli ingredienti aumentino la dipendenza, né evidenze scientifiche che un ingrediente possa essere attraente per determinate categorie di individui. Infine per assicurare il funzionamento del mercato, le aziende del tabacco hanno il diritto di competere tra di loro sviluppando e differenziando i loro prodotti per facilitare una scelta consapevole dei fumatori adulti.

No

Indubbiamente l'accesso alle vending machines deve essere regolato per evitare che queste diventino un canale di acquisto alla portata dei più giovani. Ciononostante non sussiste alcuna ragione per cui si debba vietare ad un adulto il libero accesso al prodotto tramite vending machines. Tale divieto costituirebbe una misura sproporzionata ed inutile. Altrettanto sproporzionata e poco efficace è l'ipotesi del display ban. L'esposizione del prodotto del tabacco non può certo essere considerata un'istigazione al fumo, bensì costituisce un momento fondamentale nella scelta del consumatore adulto e consapevole che altrimenti sarebbe ingiustamente privato del diritto di scegliere il prodotto conoscendone le caratteristiche, il prezzo e la dimensione del pacchetto.

Yes

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

Yes

No

explanations

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Controlled supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Olen eri mieltä ongelman määrittelyn kanssa, koska se on mielestäni epätarkka ja epäjohdonmukainen. Siinä mainitaan mm. tupakkatuotteiden monipuolistuminen mutta se kuitenkin käsittelee pääasiassa ei-tupakkatuotteita (non-tobacco products). Määrittely ei sisällä mitään perusteltua näyttöä, jolla oikeutettaisiin tiukempaa regulaatiota.

Olen eri mieltä ongelman määrittelyn kanssa, koska se on mielestäni epätarkka ja epäohdonmukainen. Kysymysalue on nimeltään Kuluttajainformaatio, mutta se käsittelee lähes pelkästään tupakkarasioita. Kuvalliset varoitusmerkinnät eivät ole tarpeellisia. Ei ole olemassa tieteellistä tai empiiristä perustetta sille, että kuvalliset varoitusmerkinnät auttaisivat kuluttajia lopettamaan tupakanpolton. Ei ole olemassa tieteellistä näyttöä siitä että nykyisestä direktiivistä poikkeavat pitoisuustiedot olisivat kuluttajien kannalta ymmärrettävämpiä. Tupakkarasian sisälle sijoitettavan informaation tehosta ei ole olemassa tutkittua, perusteltua tutkimusaineistoa. Vaatimus geneerisistä pakkauksista on tarpeeton, kohtuuton ja epäoikeudenmukainen. Geneeriset pakkaukset helpottavat tuotteiden väärentämistä ja laitonta kauppaa. Lisäksi geneerisen pakkauksen vaatimus loukkaa tavaramerkkioikeuksia.

comments

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

Yes

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

Yes

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

questions on reporting
Yes

which option

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
No

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients
No

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

Yes

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No change

questions smokeless

comments

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;

Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

O âmbito da Directiva pode ser alargado a novos produtos sem banir nenhum à partida sem base científica Porque é que o alargamento do âmbito da Directiva tem de implicar à partida a proibição de novos produtos que até podem ser menos nocivos Parece ser razoável alargar o âmbito da Directiva, mas sem preconceitos e decisões não baseadas em evidência

O problema está mal formulado. Em que medida é que a questão do acesso implica com o funcionamento do mercado interno Não faz qualquer sentido manter a proibição sob nenhum ponto de vista O SCENIHR não chegou à conclusão que o Snus é menos nocivo? Qual é o sentido de manter a proibição? Qual é a razão de proibir outros produtos de tabaco de uso oral alegadamente menos nocivos? Não basta já persistir no erro com o Snus?

prevalência de fumadores. Estes últimos facilitam o comércio ilícito. Existe alguma indicação de que algum fumador não tenha dado conta dos avisos de saúde? Maços genéricos só se for para facilitar o trabalho dos contrafactores! Engraçado: Aumentam-se os avisos para que sejam vistos e ao mesmo tempo escondem-se os maços para que não sejam vistos. Maços brancos são bons para alinhar os preços por baixo e facilitar as cópias ilegítimas Estados-Membros já o podem fazer; É da sua competência Agora é também a UE que define coimas? O problema está mal formulado. Em que medida é que a questão do acesso implica com o funcionamento do mercado interno Não existe qualquer evidência de que a proibição da exposição do produto no ponto de venda obtenha qualquer ganho em termos de saúde pública O que é que isso tem a ver com a livre circulação de produtos Qual é o problema das máquinas de venda automática? O que é que a legislação do Reino Unido tem a ver com a definição do problema do acesso aos produtos de tabaco?

which option

Não faz sentido esconder os maços de tabaco. O fruto proibido é o mais apetecido Quanto mais controlado for o acesso aos maços de tabaco mais os jovens os vão procurar Com as máquinas de venda não há cigarros fiados. Os Ingleses escondem o tabaco para dificultar o trabalho às autoridades porque vendem muito produto falsificado e de contrabando. Assim, o cliente não sabe se é verdadeiro ou é falso, não tem termo de comparação.

Es gibt unseres Erachtens keine wissenschaftlichen Beweise dafür, dass größere Warnhinweise oder Bilder besser dazu geeignet sind, potenzielle Raucher vom Rauchen abzuhalten bzw. Raucher davon zu überzeugen, mit dem Rauchen aufzuhören. Auch bei Plain Packaging gibt es bis dato keine Beweise dafür, dass sie eine Auswirkung der Gesundheit der Bevölkerung haben. Wending machines and the way to proof the age is rather sucessfull in my eyes, there is no need to extend the regulation and to ban the wending machines. All activities like age proof are rather good. A study made in Canada (Institute of Economic Affairs) it was also concluded that banning product presentation hadnt had an impact on smokinmg behaviours. Its even easier then to sell faked products because the consumer doesnt know any longer how the product should look like and how to distinguish between original and counterfeitted products despite thta fact that many ppl would loose their job profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

explanations

There is no evidence that larger health warnings will reduce smoking prevalence. Generic packaging will facilitate illicit trade. Is there any indication that smokers might overlook current health warnings? Plain packaging will make the life easier to counterfeiters This is non sense: First you propose to enlarge health warnings to make them more visible and than you propose to hide packs under the counter to make them less vissible?!. White packs will bring low prices, increasing consumption in youth and facilitate illegitimate copies

This should be a competence from each Member-State. Defining fees and sanctions at Eu level? Who will be the reference member state? German or Bulgaria? Subsidiarity principles should prevail in these matters.

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

Ban on ingredients only makes sense if cigarettes become more toxic. Ingredients that are responsible for increasing toxicity should be banned based on scientific evidence only. The only objective criteria to regulate ingredients is the scientific evidence that its use increases product toxicity.

which option

No Change

How can the access to tobacco products influence the internal market functioning? There is no evidence about the health benefits brought by the prohibition at point of sale. What is the influence of tobacco products access on the free circulation of goods? What is the problem with vending machines? Definition only says that they are banned. I would like to know why. What is the problem in UK? Why they banned products display at point of sale? Is not dangerous? How can I know what I am buying?

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

Yes

explanations

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

n 15 von 27 Mitgliedsstaaten sind Zigarettenautomaten erlaubt und das sollte so bleiben. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt unter strengen gesetzlichen Auflagen, z.B. Ausweisleser in Deutschland. Zigarettenautomaten fallen in den Zuständigkeitsbereich der einzelnen Staaten. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt lokal und weist keinen grenzüberschreitenden Bezug auf. Zigarettenautomaten haben meiner Meinung nach keinen Einfluss auf das Rauchverhalten Jugendlicher.

which option

Yes

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Rauchlose Tabakerzeugnisse gefährden nicht die Gesundheit Dritter. Ein Verbot von Snus entmündigt die EU-Bürger.

No

Ich denke, dass ein Warnhinweis wirksamer ist, wenn er größer ist. Ausserdem besteht bereits ein Bewusstsein für die Risiken des Rauchens, ein Bildwarnhinweis ist überflüssig. Einheitspackungen greifen in das freie Markenrecht ein. Einheitspackungen führen zu einer Preisspirale, dadurch werden Groß- und Einzelhändler und damit mein Arbeitsplatz gefährdet.

In 15 von 27 Mitgliedsstaaten sind Zigarettenautomaten erlaubt und das sollte so bleiben. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt unter strengen gesetzlichen Auflagen, z.B. Ausweisleser in Deutschland. Zigarettenautomaten fallen in den Zuständigkeitsbereich der einzelnen Staaten.

Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt lokal und weist keinen grenzüberschreitenden Bezug auf. Zigarettenautomaten haben meiner Meinung nach keinen Einfluss auf das Rauchverhalten Jugendlicher.

which option

No change

regulation of ingredients

explanations

market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Tabak- und Nikotinprodukte, die nicht durch die Tabakproduktrichtlinie oder andere EU-Rechtsvorschriften (Lebensmittel, Arzneimittel) erfasst werden, würden Gegenstand der unterschiedlichen Gesetzgebungen in verschiedenen Mitgliedsstaaten bleiben. Dasselbe würde auch für Produkte gelten, die zwar geraucht werden, aber unter keine der oben erwähnten Rechtsvorschriften fallen (wie zum Beispiel Kräuterzigaretten). Eine Erweiterung des Geltungsbereichs der Richtlinie könnte neuartige Formen von Tabak zum oralen Gebrauch, Kräuterzigaretten und elektronische Nikotinabgabesysteme enthalten, sofern sie nicht bereits von anderen EU-Rechtsvorschriften (Lebensmittel, Arzneimittel) erfasst werden. Für ENDS (elektronische Nikotinabgabesysteme) würden spezifische Unbedenklichkeits- und Qualitätsanforderungen ausgearbeitet werden. Für zigarettenähnliche Produkte

Yes

Ban on all types of smokeless tobacco products

Ohne Änderungen würde das Verbot für die Vermarktung von Tabak zum oralen Gebrauch („Snus“) unverändert bestehen bleiben. Bei einer Aufhebung des Verbotes von Snus könnten andere rauchlose Tabakprodukte, die als Randprodukte wahr genommen werden, weiterhin in allen Mitgliedsstaaten vermarktet werden. Sämtliche Arten von rauchlosen Tabakprodukten würden in der EU frei vermarktet werden, vorbehaltlich möglicher Anforderungen an eine angemessene Verbraucherinformation wie zum Beispiel Gesundheitswarnhinweise. Das Verbot von „Snus“ würde auf sämtliche Arten von rauchlosen Tabakprodukten ausgeweitet werden.

questions consumer

Yes

Picture warnings to become mandatory; Tar, nicotine and carbon monoxide levels to be replaced with general information on harmful substances in tobacco products; Information on harmful substances in tobacco products that cannot be placed on the package would be placed inside the package; Health warnings to be put on water pipes

Ohne Änderungen würden bildliche Warnhinweise in den Mitgliedsstaaten optional bleiben. Unterschiedliche Etikette in den Mitgliedsstaaten weiterhin bestehen bleiben. Wasserpfeifen blieben ohne Gesundheitswarnhinweise. Verbesserungsvorschläge: Siehe nächste Frage. Zur Einführung von einheitlichen Verpackungen: Mit einheitlichen bzw. generischen Verpackungen würde das Erscheinungsbild der Verpackung von Tabakprodukten standardisiert. Den Herstellern wäre lediglich erlaubt, Marken- und Produktnamen, die Produktmenge, Gesundheitswarnhinweise sowie andere vorgeschriebene Informationen wie etwa Sicherheitskennzeichnungen abzdrukken. Die Verpackung selbst wäre einheitlich gefärbt (zum Beispiel weiß, grau oder kartonfarben). Größe und Form der Verpackung könnten ebenfalls reguliert werden.

1. Bildwarnhinweise würden in allen Mitgliedsstaaten vorgeschrieben werden. Sie würden vergrößert, für beide Seiten der Packung verbindlich und oben auf der Packung positioniert werden. 2. Angaben zu schädlichen Stoffen in Tabakprodukten, die auf der Packung nicht aufgedruckt werden können, würden innerhalb der Packung platziert werden. Diese Packungsbeilagen würden auch detailliertere Angaben zu den gesundheitlichen Auswirkungen des Tabakkonsums und Informationen darüber, wie man mit dem Rauchen aufhört, enthalten. 3. Maschinell gemessene Angaben zu den Teer-, Nikotin- und Kohlenmonoxidgehalten („TNCO“), würden durch allgemeine Informationen zu schädlichen Stoffen in Tabakprodukten, insbesondere in ihren Formen, ersetzt. Zudem stünden Informationen zu einem Telefon-Service, der bei einem Rauchstopp hilft, auf der Packung.

Yes

Ohne Änderungen würden Informationen über Zusatzstoffe von der Tabakindustrie unter Verwendung unterschiedlicher Formate in den verschiedenen Mitgliedsstaaten vorgelegt werden. Daher plädiere ich für die Verpflichtung der Tabakindustrie dazu, ein bestimmtes einheitliches Meldeformat, das idealerweise mit der elektronischen Einreichung von Daten kombiniert wäre, zu verwenden. Dieses könnte auf dem freiwilligen Meldeformat beruhen, das durch die Kommission im Mai 2007 zu der Frage ausgearbeitet wurde, wie die Industrie an die Mitgliedsstaaten berichten könnte. Zudem sollte es eine jährliche Registrierungsgebühr geben, die an die zuständigen nationalen Behörden zu entrichten ist, um deren Arbeiten zur Datenerfassung und Analyse von Zusatzstoffen zu finanzieren. Nur registrierte Produkte sollten auf dem Markt zugelassen. Wirksame, angemessene und abschreckende Strafen sollten bei Nichtbefolgung der Zulieferungspflicht von Daten über Zusatzstoffen von Tabakprodukten angewendet werden.

Establish a common list of tobacco ingredients which one

Establish a positive common list of tobacco ingredients; Establish a negative common list of tobacco ingredients

Ohne Änderungen stünde die Regulierung von Tabakproduktzusatzstoffen den Mitgliedsstaaten weiterhin frei. Die Industrie muss unter schiebliche nationale Regelwerke im Hinblick auf Positiv- und/oder Negativlisten von Zusatzstoffen für die Herstellung von Tabakprodukten befolgen. Ich plädiere für eine gemeinsame Liste von Tabakinhaltsstoffen. Eine solche Liste sollte auf der Toxizität, der Attraktivität und der Suchtgefahr eines Produkts beim Konsum (Tabak zum oralen Gebrauch) bzw. beim Rauchen (die Verbrennungs-/Inhalationswirkung) beruhen.

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults; Tobacco display and promotion at points of sales to be restricted

Auch bei einem Verkauf von Tabakprodukten via Internet und bei anderen möglichen Vertriebswegen sollte eine Alterskontrolle verpflichtend werden.

explanations

which option

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging

because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

In 15 von 27 Mitgliedsstaaten sind Zigarettenautomaten erlaubt und das sollte so bleiben. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt unter strengen gesetzlichen Auflagen, z.B. Ausweisleser in Deutschland. Zigarettenautomaten fallen in den Zuständigkeitsbereich der einzelnen Staaten. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt lokal und weist keinen grenzüberschreitenden Bezug auf. Zigarettenautomaten haben meiner Meinung nach keinen Einfluss auf das Rauchverhalten Jugendlicher.

comments

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

Yes

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Acho existe uma grande contradição, pois aumentam-se os avisos para que sejam vistos e ao mesmo tempo escondem-se os maços para que não sejam vistos. Maços brancos são bons para alinhar os preços por baixo e facilitar as cópias legítimas.

Sanções devem permanecer sob responsabilidade dos Estados-Membros; Princípio da subsidiariedade deve reger esta questão!

Proibir os ingredientes só faz sentido se estes aumentarem a toxicidade dos cigarros. Se a toxicidade aumentar com a utilização de certos ingredientes e existir evidência científica para isso, então devem ser proibidos. O único critério objectivo é saber se o uso dos ingredientes aumenta a nocividade do produto.

which option

No

O problema está mal formulado. Em que medida é que a questão do acesso implica com o funcionamento do mercado interno? Não existe qualquer evidência de que a proibição da exposição do produto no ponto de venda obtenha qualquer ganho em termos de saúde pública. O que é que isso tem a ver com a livre circulação de produtos? Qual é o problema das máquinas de venda automática? O que é que a legislação do Reino Unido tem a ver com a definição do problema do acesso aos produtos de tabaco?

which option

Não faz sentido esconder os maços de tabaco. O fruto proibido é o mais apetecido Quanto mais controlado for o acesso aos maços de tabaco mais os jovens os vão procurar

Com as máquinas de venda não há cigarros fiados. Os Ingleses escondem o tabaco para dificultar o trabalho às autoridades porque vendem muito produto falsificado e de contrabando. Assim, o cliente não sabe se é verdadeiro ou é falso, não tem termo de comparação.

Zigarettenautomaten fallen in den Zuständigkeitsbereich der einzelnen Staaten. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt lokal und weist keinen grenzüberschreitenden Bezug auf. Zigarettenautomaten haben meiner Meinung nach keinen Einfluss auf das Rauchverhalten Jugendlicher.

Yes

which option

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

comments

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option

Lifting the ban on snus

problem definition

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Ich denke, dass ein Warnhinweis wirksamer ist, wenn er größer ist. Ausserdem besteht bereits ein Bewusstsein für die Risiken des Rauchens, ein Bildwarnhinweis ist überflüssig.

Einheitspackungen greifen in das freie Markenrecht ein. Einheitspackungen führen zu einer Preisspirale, dadurch werden Groß- und Einzelhändler und damit mein Arbeitsplatz gefährdet.

In 15 von 27 Mitgliedsstaaten sind Zigarettenautomaten erlaubt und das sollte so bleiben. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt unter strengen gesetzlichen Auflagen, z.B. Ausweisleser in Deutschland. Zigarettenautomaten fallen in den Zuständigkeitsbereich der einzelnen Staaten. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt lokal und weist keinen grenzüberschreitenden Bezug auf. Zigarettenautomaten haben meiner Meinung nach keinen Einfluss auf das Rauchverhalten Jugendlicher.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

explanations

which option

No Change

access to tobacco products

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

explanations

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Ich denke, dass ein Warnhinweis wirksamer ist, wenn er größer ist. Ausserdem besteht bereits ein Bewusstsein für die Risiken des Rauchens, ein Bildwarnhinweis ist überflüssig. Einheitspackungen greifen in das freie Markenrecht ein. Einheitspackungen führen zu einer Preisspirale, dadurch werden Groß- und Einzelhändler und damit mein Arbeitsplatz gefährdet.

In 15 von 27 Mitgliedsstaaten sind Zigarettenautomaten erlaubt und das sollte so bleiben. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt unter strengen gesetzlichen Auflagen, z.B. Ausweisleser in Deutschland. Zigarettenautomaten fallen in den Zuständigkeitsbereich der einzelnen Staaten. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt lokal und weist keinen grenzüberschreitenden Bezug auf. Zigarettenautomaten haben meiner Meinung nach keinen Einfluss auf das Rauchverhalten Jugendlicher.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;

Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

In 15 von 27 Mitgliedsstaaten sind Zigarettenautomaten erlaubt und das sollte so bleiben. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt unter strengen gesetzlichen Auflagen, z.B. Ausweisleser in Deutschland. Zigarettenautomaten fallen in den Zuständigkeitsbereich der einzelnen Staaten. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt lokal und weist keinen grenzüberschreitenden Bezug auf. Zigarettenautomaten haben meiner Meinung nach keinen Einfluss auf das Rauchverhalten Jugendlicher.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option

Lifting the ban on snus

problem definition

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

Yes

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

profitability with the consequent risk of giving up the business. Also increasing of illegal products sale (counterfeited and smuggled).

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
No

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting
Yes

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;

Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

comments

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

access to tobacco products

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

explanations

which option

No Change

access to tobacco products

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Bitte setzen Sie sich außerdem dafür ein, dass über die Arbeitsplatzverordnung das Rauchen in geschlossenen öffentlichen Räumen, namentlich der Gastronomie ohne wenn und aber einheitlich verboten wird. Gerade die Regierung in Deutschland (Bund und Länder) ist von den Tabaklobbyisten stark korrumpiert und in ihren Entscheidungen bzgl. des Schutzes der Gesundheit ihrer Bürger entspricht sie mehr den Interessen der Tabakfirmen, als denen der Bürger. Vielen herzlichen Dank Petra Jockisch

In 15 von 27 Mitgliedsstaaten sind Zigarettenautomaten erlaubt und das sollte so bleiben. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt unter strengen gesetzlichen Auflagen, z.B. Ausweisleser in Deutschland. Zigarettenautomaten fallen in den Zuständigkeitsbereich der einzelnen Staaten. Der Verkauf über Automaten erfolgt lokal und weist keinen grenzüberschreitenden Bezug auf. Zigarettenautomaten haben meiner Meinung nach keinen Einfluss auf das Rauchverhalten Jugendlicher.

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

questions on reporting*problem definition

Yes

which option

explanations

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

questions on reporting*problem definition

Yes

which option

No

explanations

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

No Change

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

explanations

which option

No Change

access to tobacco products

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

explanations

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

which option

problem definition

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Non concordo che "l'evidenza mostra che, se adeguatamente dimensionate e ben collocate, le avvertenze illustrate costituiscono una misura efficace per informare il pubblico in merito ai pericoli del fumo" e che "maggiore è la dimensione dell'avvertenza illustrata, maggiore ne è l'efficacia". Talvolta le immagini illustrate introdotte in alcuni paesi per sostituire le avvertenze sanitarie scritte, più che informare il consumatore sembrano essere state introdotte per suscitare stupore e shock. Non sembra questa la strada migliore per proteggere la salute dei consumatori, che già sono molto consapevoli dei pericoli e della dannosità delle sigarette. Sono anche totalmente contrari all'introduzione del cosiddetto "pacchetto generico", che rischia di favorire il business delle organizzazioni criminali e di danneggiare le aziende serie che tradizionalmente forniscono solo società manifatturiere di altrettanta serietà ed operanti solo sul mercato legale, che si vedrebbero gravemente danneggiate per la distruzione del valore dei marchi. Tra l'altro il "plain packaging" spingerebbe ad una concorrenza basata sul prezzo e non sulla qualità, così danneggiando il tabacco europeo che della qualità superiore ha l'unica arma possibile, ora che i sostegni diretti ai produttori, per compensarne i costi più alti, sono stati smantellati.

Sono d'accordo sulla creazione di un formato comune di reporting ma non concordo con la creazione di un nuovo livello di imposizione fiscale che andrebbe a sovrapporsi a quello dello stato membro, creando confusione e andando contro i principi di uniformità dell'Unione.

No change; Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

Sono in totale disaccordo con l'ipotesi di vietare l'impiego di ingredienti nella produzione di sigarette. Questa ipotesi finirebbe per avere serie conseguenze per le produzioni di "Burley", in Italia e in tutta Europa. Questa qualità di tabacco, utilizzata principalmente per il cosiddetto "American blend", rispetto ad altre varietà di tabacco, necessita di un certo numero di ingredienti in fase di lavorazione. D'altra parte, come chiarito anche dall'OMS e dallo SCENIHR non esiste alcuna prova scientifica del fatto che le sigarette realizzate senza ingredienti (come quelle che utilizzano la varietà di tabacco "Virginia") siano meno dannose di quelle che necessitano di ingredienti. Questa, pertanto, appare una chiara discriminazione, che avrebbe il solo effetto di pregiudicare significativamente gli oltre 60.000 addetti alla coltivazione di tabacco in Italia e circa 400.000 in tutta Europa.

Le enunciazioni del documento di consultazione, in realtà non definiscono il problema, ma fotografano unicamente il quadro normativo di riferimento, seppure in modo parziale. Sono infatti elencati nel documento solo i paesi in cui esistono misure estreme per regolamentare l'accesso ai prodotti: paesi, ad esempio, in cui i distributori automatici sono vietati o dove è vietata l'esposizione dei prodotti nei punti vendita. Ritengo che non si debba arrivare tanto lontano per ottenere gli obiettivi prefissati di salvaguardia dei minori. Il sistema italiano di monopolio e di controlli sull'accesso, se applicato con determinazione e con le giuste risorse a disposizione degli organismi di controllo, costituisce un'ottima soluzione per limitare l'accesso dei minori al tabacco.

which option

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

comments

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

The specified products must be included in the scope of the Directive, but a ban should not be considered or certainly not imposed prior to exhaustive scientific research of the products to determine what damage it does to the human body

questions smokeless
Yes

which option
Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
No

I do not believe that the evidence is clear enough to determine the impact of warnings or images. The use of plain packaging would make it easier for counterfeiting which makes it even more dangerous

which option
No change

Plain packaging is not the answer - it takes away freedom of expression as well as treating smokers like idiots. Plain packaging will also make forgery (illegal cigarette manufacturers) much simpler. There is a lack of substantive evidence to uphold the need for change.

Provide customers with more precise information about the measured values, e.g. use the Health-Canadianumbers system.

No

explanations
The EU should not be involved in law enforcement - it is the duty of the Member States'. It would not improve the functioning of the internal market.

which option
Establish a common compulsory reporting format

Develop a common reporting format - which protects manufacturer's trade secrets. The formats could be based on existing formats, already published by the EU in May 2007.

No

explanations

Scientific evidence, not subjective, should be used to determine whether the use of additives increases the toxic effect of cigarette smoke.

No Change

I support regulation based on scientific research not subjective or flimsy evidence. Additives which enhance taste differences e.g. Virginia which is additive free or 'blend' cigarettes should be maintained as an option

No

Again the evidence currently does not prove that the internal market would be strengthened or would lead to a reduction in tobacco consumption

which option

No change

Internet purchasing could be restricted by age limits

From my viewpoint, there is too much subliminal advertising in movies and tv-series. Whenn you watch the world of the movies and tv-series, you get the impression, almost everybody smoke - which is not the fact. Even worse is the fact, that in movies the "good guy" (police-officer and so) is the smoker, and the "bad guy" very often is the nonsmoker. And very often, the "good guy" ignores obviously the nonsmoking-rules. This is a fatal signal.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

questions on reporting*problem definition

Yes

which option

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

Yes

explanations

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No

comments

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

access to tobacco products

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

access to tobacco products

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Es gibt keinen wissenschaftlichen Beweis dafür, grössere Warnhinweise oder Bilder besser geeignet wären, potenzielle Raucher vom Rauchen abzuhalten. Auch bei Plain Packaging gibt es bis dato keinen Beweis dafür, dass sie eine Auswirkung der Gesundheit der Bevölkerung haben. Plain Packaging würde vielmehr Fälschungen und den Handel mit illegalem Tabakprodukten forcieren, weil die Fälschungssicherheit der Produkte nicht gewährleistet werden kann.

Die Rechtsdurchsetzung ist Angelegenheit der Mitgliedsstaaten und nicht der EU. Auch wenn die EU dieses Prinzip einführt, würden die Beträge für Gebühren und Sanktionen zwischen den Mitgliedsstaaten unterschiedlich ausfallen. Dies deshalb, weil es in die Kompetenzen des jeweiligen Staates fällt. Eine Verbesserung des Funktionierens des Binnenmarktes ist somit auf diese Weise nicht ersichtlich.

Der Fokus der Evaluierung von Zusatzstoffen sollte ganz grundsätzlich darauf ausgerichtet sein, ob deren Einsatz die toxische Wirkung des Zigarettenrauchens erhöht. Es sollte daher nicht von der Attraktivität der Stoffe ausgegangen werden, da diese nahezu ausschließlich auf subjektiven Kriterien beruht.

comments

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option

Lifting the ban on snus

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

questions on reporting*problem definition

Yes

which option

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

access to tobacco products

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer
No

explanations
No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option
No change

additional comments
The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting
Yes

which option

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

access to tobacco products

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

The knowledge of how harmful tobacco would be is already of a high level, also on the basis of the existing warnings; no value added by the increase of information; negative impact on the fulfilments of sector's operators and of tobacco retailers; full aversion to plain packaging because of the confusion on manufacturers identification brands, with a consequent proliferation of illegal trade of counterfeited as well as smuggled products.

questions on reporting

Yes

which option

Establish a common compulsory reporting format

regulation of ingredients

explanations

which option

No Change

access to tobacco products

Yes

which option

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

questions on reporting*problem definition

Yes

which option

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;

Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

Eine Erweiterung des Geltungsbereichs der Richtlinie könnte neuartige Formen von Tabak zum oralen Gebrauch, Kräuterzigaretten und elektronische Nikotinabgabesysteme enthalten, sofern sie nicht bereits von anderen EU-Rechtsvorschriften (Lebensmittel, Arzneimittel) erfasst werden. Für ENDS (elektronische Nikotinabgabesysteme) würden spezifische Unbedenklichkeits- und Qualitätsanforderungen ausgearbeitet werden. Für zigarettenähnliche Produkte (Kräuterzigaretten) wären angemessene Angaben zu Inhaltsstoffen und Gesundheitswarnhinweise erforderlich. Neue Tabakprodukte würden vereinheitlichte Angaben zu schädlichen Stoffen im Produkt sowie Gesundheitswarnhinweise tragen. Die Mitgliedsstaaten würden von den Herstellern und Importeuren fordern, die zuständigen Behörden über sämtliche bei der Herstellung eines Produkts verwendeten Zusatzstoffe zu informieren. Neuartige Formen von Tabak zum oralen Gebrauch würden ähnlich wie Snus verboten.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

questions on reporting*problem definition

Yes

which option

No

explanations

It is not possible to prove in advance which is the possible impact of an ingredient in terms of toxicity; targeting lists in advance, positively or negatively, would be in contrast with this statement; risk of product standardisation with a consequent reduction of the principle of free market and the risk of increase of counterfeited products.

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

Lifting the ban on snus

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

additional comments

questions on reporting*problem definition

Yes

which option

explanations

Yes

Controlled supply and access

which supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale;
Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.

questions smokeless

comments

No scientific evidence concerning the risks related to smokeless tobacco products consumption.

which option

Lifting the ban on snus

questions consumer

No

explanations

No scientific evidence proving that bigger warnings determine a better knowledge of the suggested messages; no scientific evidence on the relation between the use of a particular graphic and the impact on consumers.

which option

No change

questions on reporting*problem definition

Yes

which option

explanations

which option

Yes

Controlled supply and access

Age verification of buyers and other legal conditions to be set for cross-border retail sale; Access to vending machines to be restricted to adults

additional option

Sale to be carried out only within a network of specialized shops, provided with an appropriate license, which main activity is tobacco sale.
